Whittier College is a residential four-year liberal arts institution that prepares students from diverse backgrounds to excel in a complex global society:

Since being founded in 1887, Whittier College has been a place of academic innovation, where a community of learners pushes past constraints and “measured” ways of doing things, embracing the bold and the cutting edge. Located on 75 acres in the heart of Southern California between bustling Los Angeles and beautiful Orange County, Whittier is distinguished by its small size, pioneering faculty, and nationally recognized curriculum. Facilities rival those at large public institutions, but this is an intimate setting where students and professors unite in an ongoing pursuit of knowledge. Currently, Whittier College holds the HSI credential and is a minority-majority school with more than 50% of the student population from ethnic and minority backgrounds.

The Whittier College Student Counseling Center services the needs of the undergraduate population of Whittier College, with approximately 20% of the student body utilizing our no-cost, short-term counseling services. Clinical hours are spent predominantly in individual counseling; however, the following are also a part of the training experience: intake assessment, crisis intervention (on-call), triage and consultation. In addition, the Post-doctoral Fellow will play a vital role in the training of CAPIC pre-doctoral interns and practicum students. S/he will provide consultation and leadership with outreach, as well as teaching training seminars to the staff. In addition, the Fellow will participate in program development, workshops, classroom presentations/lectures and special projects as they arise. The Counseling Center collaborates with a variety of departments on campus and provides consultation to the Student Life and Residential Life teams. There is also the potential to work one day per week with Whittier Law School Students on the Costa Mesa campus.
