

Art Transfer Talent Scholarships!

I am pleased to hear of your interest in the Art Transfer Talent Scholarship offered by Whittier College. I hope the following information will be helpful.

Each year, students demonstrating outstanding ability in studio art are granted an Art Talent Scholarship. Scholarships are valued up to $6,000 and are renewable for up to four years of continuous study at Whittier College (or until you reach the 120 units required to graduate), provided the recipient maintains satisfactory academic performance and is involved in art activities of the campus.

The quality and strength of each applicant's portfolio, essay, recommendation, and academic background are considered in selecting the recipients of this award. Awards are granted to students intending to major in art as well as students pursuing other majors. The applicant's proposed major and financial need are not considered in determining scholarship recipients.

Whether learning traditional art making skills like painting and sculpture or studying the cultural impact of visual media, students majoring in art at Whittier College will gain the visual literacy necessary to be active participants in our shared visual culture. The Studio Art program consists of courses in drawing, painting, printmaking, sculpture, ceramics, digital photography, and video. Other tracks study the making, circulation, and reception of images across time and cultures, as well as the commercial application of visual art and design principles in the production of creative content for various media platforms. Our teaching emphasizes traditional skills, perceptual abilities, and contemporary issues in art. Classes are small, and instruction is largely individualized. This outline may help you know whether this is a program suited to your needs and interests.

Please note that you may also apply for transfer talent scholarships from the Music and Theatre Departments, but if offered multiple talent scholarships you can only accept an award from one department and must decline all other offers.

The accompanying Application Guidelines sheet explains the Art Talent Scholarship application process. For further information, please contact talent@whittier.edu. I wish you well in making your college choice, and I look forward to assisting you as you consider Whittier College.

Sincerely yours,

Danny Jauregui
Associate Professor of Art
Art Department
